Chad Tunnel Bridge

Overview

The flagship project will invest in the modernisation of the road along the strategic N'Djamena-Douala corridor, linking Chad, a landlock country, to Western and Central Africa. In Chad, mobility relies heavily on the road network which serves main trading centres and cities and the corridor. A MAJOR new bridge linking Cameroon and Chad is being hailed as a historic breakthrough for safety, trade, and regional integration in Central Africa. The $625 million structure, funded through a coalition of African and international development partners, now spans the Logone River, which long. Cameroon's Prime Minister Joseph Dion Ngute and his Chadian counterpart Allamaye Halina presided over the.
