Fiber Optic Cable Tracing Standards

Overview

IEC 61280-4-5 provides test methods to measure the attenuation of installed multimode and single-mode optical fibre cabling plant as well as the determination of their polarity and length. Although the standard covers premises installations, many of the provisions included here are SI/ NFPA 70, the National Electrical Code (NEC). Fiber optic testing of a newly installed system not only verifies that the system meets its design requirements, but also creates a performance baseline for all future testing and troubleshooting of the system. Misidentification can cause downtime, disrupt essential services, and create safety hazards in data centers. Industry standards like TIA-606-B guide professionals to use color codes, print legends, connector types, and more. This article explains eight of the most important global fiber and cable standards — ITU-T, IEC, TIA, ISO/IEC, and Telcordia — covering their scope, applications, and why they matter in.
