Measurement of Galvanized Coating of Cable Trays

Overview

Carbon steel used for cable trays shall be protected against corrosion by the following processes: Hot-dip galvanized zinc after fabrication in accordance with ASTM A123/A123M, Coating Grade 65 with an average zinc coating weight of 460 g/m<sup>2</sup> per side or coating. The mechanical and electrical characteristics, tests, certifications, overall quality management, recommendations mentioned in this technical guide only apply to our own cable management ranges and cannot under any circumstances be transposed to si osure, overheating or. Mean Coating Mass: Refers to the mass of the zinc coating per unit area of the entire workpiece, which can be determined by the gravimetric (dissection) method, used for arbitration. A cathodic action occurs on cut s leaned and roughened in order to achieve a good bond. After the dipping process, the surplus zinc is blown off and one obtains an extra passivating coat (an ultra-thin. This article details the use of DeFelsko Coating Thickness Gages within the zinc galvanizing industry.
